We care about your privacy When you visit our website, we will use cookies to make sure you enjoy your stay. You'll want to keep it simple and focus on readability. Entrusting some design elements to your readers grows loyalty and customer retention. Include a favorite quote or inspirational phrase. Finally, note that we'll need to use a cookie to remember your cookie preferences. Because we really care about your right to privacy, we give you a lot of control over which cookies we use in your sessions. Being aware of recent news and viral trends helps your content stay relevant and engaging to readers. Keep it professional, but don't be afraid to let your personality shine. However, remember that blocking some types of cookies may impact your experience of our website. We respect your privacy and we'll never share your resumes and cover letters with recruiters or job sites. Sample Costume Designs Sample Costume Design A File Size: 637 kb File Type: pdf Download File Sample Costume Design B File Size: 637 kb File Type: pdf Download File If available, you should also add a fabric swatch, stapled to the costume design, to show the color and texture of the fabric. Most stores that sell fabric will give you sample swatches for free if you ask nicely (Wal-Mart, Linens N Things in Vass, Hobby Lobby). The design should be professional in appearance and organization. Younger readers look for fun, engaging content. Use similar texts in headers, footers and the body of your newsletter. Cookies are small bits of information which get stored on your computer. Make sure to pay attention to the time period of the play. Research popular societal topics that your customer base may be interested in. costume design plot.docx File Size: 99 kb File Type: docx Download File costume design_plot.pdf File Size: 101 kb File Type: pdf Download File Sample Costume Plots Assignment 5b: Costume Design Second Section: Choose one character from the play that you will design a costume for (you will only need to design one costume, if the character has costume changes). However, you are always welcome to design multiple costumes or multiple characters. For the costume, you will need: A paragraph or two describing your vision for the character and the costume, including specific references from the script. At least 10 pictures of research for your costume, with a short description of each picture (one or two sentences will be fine). Personalize your newsletter with hobbies or activities that you and your team are into. They provide information and help readers get to know you better. Make your content relatable to your reader demographic with popular cultural references. Click on the different category headings on the left to find out more, and change our default settings. As you fill it out, pay attention to the following items in the script: Any specific references in the character descriptions to costumes. Actors' dialogue that reference costumes. Stage directions that would include costume elements (actor removes his hat, puts a wallet in a jacket pocket, etc). Sample Costume Research Sample Costume Research A File Size: 7766 kb File Type: pdf Download File Sample Costume Research B File Size: 9545 kb File Type: pdf Download File Assignment 7b: Costume Design Third (final) Section: Your costume design will need to be created by hand (watercolor paints are the general preferred medium, although we could discuss other mediums). The design should be a full color design (no pencil sketches). Mr. Faw will have watercolor paper and watercolor paints/brushes available for use in class. Your costume design should be painted onto the character who would be wearing the costume. Don't be afraid to re-design your newsletter article template to suit your readers' needs. Engage your readers in your company story and be helpful and flexible with their needs. Download the costume design plot below. After sending out your first few newsletters, create a poll online or in your next newsletter asking readers what they'd like to see. Newsletters are a good way to engage with your customer base. Established loyalty spreads positivity about your company by word-of-mouth. Cut Down on Clutter Once you have ideas for content, it's time to design. Take pictures of team members during work-related events or as they perform work-related tasks. Search for fun, organized newsletter templates to see more options. This information usually isn't enough to directly identify you, but it allows us to deliver a page tailored to your particular needs and preferences. On the other hand, we're using several third party tools to help us run our website with all its functionality. Design with favorite colors or those that match your brand. Make sure you format for web browsers and mobile devices to accommodate your readers. Tell your readers a story and include content like upcoming sales and promotions, how to contact your company and what's new. Customize Online If you don't have time to create your newsletter template from scratch, you can find templates online. Use a photo editor or document software to create great looking templates or to customize those found online. Take Time to Re-Design It's always smart to update your newsletter when in the beginning of the design process. Stack photos and layer text over them. But what exactly are cookies? Create your own fun newsletter template to use again and again to connect with readers and grow your customer base. Appeal to Your Demographic Before you start writing content for your newsletter, think of ways to connect with your readers. Do NOT use pictures from other productions of your play, your research needs to be your own original research. These elements will help readers relate to your company in a personal way, creating a bond with your customer base. Create contrast with quotes, sub headers and large margins. Mix and match your favorites for the perfect template to suit your business. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Assignment 2b: Costume Design First Section: Go through the script, page by page, making specific notes of anything costume related.
