

Continue

Bile acid lab test

You're free to share this material in any way you like, even commercially, as long as you follow the license terms. You can also adapt and change it however you want, but make sure to give credit where it's due. If you modify the material, distribute your changes under the same license as the original. Common sports injuries include muscle sprains and strains, which occur when a joint is knocked out of place or a ligament is stretched or torn. Ankles, knees, and wrists are prone to these types of injuries. Strains happen when muscles or tendons are over-stretched or twisted, causing pain, spasms, and loss of strength. Knee injuries can range from minor to severe and include runner's knee, iliotibial band syndrome, and tendonitis or tendinosis. More serious knee problems involve bone bruises, cartilage damage, or ligament tears. The meniscus and surface-coating cartilage in the knee are both susceptible to injury. Dislocating a joint is considered an emergency that requires immediate medical attention, with hand joints being the most likely to dislocate and shoulder joints following closely behind. Some parts of the body are less prone to dislocation due to their anatomy and structure. Knees, hips, and elbows are among the most common injury-prone joints. Traumatic Brain Injury occurs when an immediate or unusual physical assault on the head causes damage to the brain. A closed head injury can result from a strong blow that doesn't penetrate the skull. Spinal Cord Injury is caused by trauma that damages cells in the spinal cord. The text then transitions to discuss the benefits of vinegar, including reducing bloating, increasing vitamin absorption, canceling out carbohydrates, softening enery crashes after consuming sugar or carbs, keeping people fuller for longer, and aiding muscle energy production before intense exercise. Additionally, animal studies suggest that drinking vinegar may lower blood pressure and use diluted vinegar as a natural way to clean fruits and vegetables. Note: I removed the spammy browser upgrade section from the original text and only kept the relevant information about knees, hips, elbows, Traumatic Brain Injury, Spinal Cord Injury, and the benefits of vinegar. Vinegar: More Than Just A Condiment? 1. It kills bacteria - Vinegar's antibacterial properties can eliminate harmful microorganisms, rendering acetic acid inactive. 2. Relieves digestive issues - The acidity in vinegar helps neutralize stomach acid, alleviating heartburn and indigestion. 3. Deodorizes smelly feet - Diluted vinegar effectively eliminates foot odor by killing the bacteria responsible for it. 4. Treats bad breath - Vinegar's antibacterial properties can kill microorganisms that cause bad breath. 5. Relieves jellyfish stings - Vinegar deactivates jellyfish venom, making it a viable treatment option. 6. Balances pH levels - The acidity of vinegar helps neutralize the body's pH levels, potentially improving bone health. Hepatitis symptoms include loss of appetite, jaundice, abdominal pain, fever, dark urine, fatigue, vomiting, nausea, and diarrhoea; however, some individuals may be asymptomatic. To reduce the risk, it's essential to identify at-risk patients and encourage screenings, which can be aided by vaccinations for hepatitis B and A. There are effective vaccines available for both viruses, with the CDC recommending vaccination for hepatitis B at birth and for hepatitis A at 1 year of age. Although there is no vaccine for HCV currently, individuals can lower their risk by avoiding activities that expose them to infection, such as using injected drugs. Screenings and vaccinations must be encouraged to help raise awareness and prevent the condition. Educational resources, such as pamphlets and social media campaigns, are effective in spreading the word about hepatitis prevention. Additionally, participating actively throughout the year, rather than just on World Hepatitis Day, can help promote awareness and reduce the risk globally. Bile acids play a crucial role in digestion by allowing the breakdown of dietary fats and oils. They also aid in eliminating cholesterol from the body, driving bile flow, emulsifying fat-soluble vitamins for absorption, reducing bacterial flora in the small intestine and biliary tract, and other functions. The Bile Acids (Total) Test is essential to assess an increased secretion of bile acids, which can indicate liver or gallbladder problems. The spinal cord consists of vertebrae connected by facet joints, allowing motion and articulation. Each vertebra has two sets of facets joints: one facing upward (superior articular facet) and one downward (inferior articular facet), located at the back of the spine (posterior). Facet joint syndrome can occur when these joints become swollen and painful due to aging, pressure overload, or injury. Facet joint pain affects the discs in between vertebrae, causing wear and tear that reduces space between them. This leads to bone rubbing on bones, creating bone spurs and narrowing of the spinal canal (spinal stenosis). It can occur in either the neck or lower back. Diagnosis involves a thorough physical examination and possibly a CT scan or spinal injection with X-ray contrast material. For facet joint syndrome, treatment options include rest and physical therapy to calm pain and inflammation, improve mobility, and reduce swelling. However, for severe pain, doctors may prescribe nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs or injections. Surgery is also an option, fusing the two joints together through arthrodesis. If conservative treatment fails, Symptoms of facet joint syndrome are similar to fractures and herniated discs, making careful diagnosis necessary. The condition often causes pain, numbness, muscle weakness, and stiffness in the neck and lower back, with persisting point tenderness over the inflamed spinal muscle. Low back pain can radiate down into the buttocks and upper leg. Exercises and lifestyle changes are recommended to alleviate symptoms, including maintaining good posture, taking regular breaks during long periods of sitting or standing, and following prescribed exercises by a doctor or physical therapist. After surgery, it's essential to rest as much as possible with regular follow-ups with your doctor. The recovery period depends on the chosen treatment, with conservative treatment typically requiring more time compared to surgical procedures. Treatment costs for facet joint syndrome can vary, but initial costs usually start at around Rs.500 for physical therapy. The cost of treating facet joint syndrome can range from Rs.1,00,000 to Rs.3,00,000 for surgical procedures. The effectiveness of the treatment depends on the type of treatment being administered. Conservative treatments may not completely eliminate the condition and can cause it to recur periodically. On the other hand, surgery provides immediate relief but can lead to recurring symptoms due to wear and tear of cartilage and lubricants. Besides conservative treatments, facet joint syndrome can also be treated through alternative methods like yoga and pilates, acupuncture, and chiropractic care. These approaches offer relief from pain and improve posture, muscle flexibility, and strength. (Removed irrelevant text) The Kentucky Derby was won by Junior Alvarado. There have been several ongoing conflicts, including the Gaza war, M23 campaign, Russian invasion of Ukraine timeline, and Sudanese civil war timeline. Recently, notable individuals passed away, such as Sharpe James, Matthew Best, Simon Mann, Douglas Gibson, Chet Lemon, Tom Farmer, and Junko Tabei's birthday was on May 16. In 1426, Mohnyin Thado captured Sagaing to become the king of Ava in present-day Myanmar. The first Academy Awards ceremony took place at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel in Los Angeles, California, in 1929. Japanese climber Junko Tabei became the first woman to reach Mount Everest's summit in 1975. A category 1 historic place, The Church of the Good Shepherd, is located at Lake Tekapo in New Zealand. There are thirty listed sites in the Mackenzie District, a territorial authority in the Canterbury Region of the South Island. European settlers established sheep runs in the area by the 1850s. Heritage New Zealand classifies sites into Category 1 and Category 2 based on their historical or cultural significance. The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a historical note about the year 1426, providing information on various events that took place during that year in different parts of the world. January 15 - England goes to war with Brittany and France after they ally together. King Henry VI leads the English forces. The same day, China starts its Xuande Era, marking the first year of Emperor Xuanzong's rule. February is a busy month. On the 8th, the English Parliament, nicknamed "The Parliament of Bats" because members aren't allowed to carry swords but have clubs for defense, opens in Leicester with King Henry VI at the helm. The Speaker of the House of Commons elected that day was Richard Vernon. However, on February 27, the Hundred Years' War sees a significant battle in Normandy as English forces under Sir Thomas Rempston face off against French and Breton troops. March brings more battles. On the 6th, John, Duke of Bedford, leads an English army to victory over Arthur de Richemont's French forces near Avranches, forcing Brittany to recognize English rule. Just two weeks later, on March 20, the Second Scutari War between Venice and Serbia formally ends with a treaty signed in what is now Albania. April sees a death on its calendar. Hasan ibn Alijan dies while traveling back to Mecca after being appointed Emir by the Egyptian Sultan. His sons are summoned to complete payment for his position. Another ruler, Kale Kye-Taung Nyo of Burma's Kingdom of Ava, flees and is replaced by Mohnyin Thado. June brings more battles and laws passed. The Parliament of Bats closes in England after giving royal assent to several laws, including one about writs not being abated for people later given knighthood, and another allowing subjects to transport corn. However, it's also the month where Hussite Wars see a decisive victory against German crusaders at Aussig. Later months bring more battles and ruler changes. On July 7, King Janus of Cyprus is captured by Mamluks but later ransomed. August sees Barakat ibn Hasan confirmed as Emir of Mecca after paying his fee. September brings his arrival in Mecca to officially take over the position. October finds Brandenburg and Mecklenburg signing a treaty after Prenzlau's recapture. Finally, November 7 marks a victory for Vietnamese rebels led by General Nguyễn Xi against Chinese rule in Vietnam's Lam Son uprising. Given article text here China at Battle Tot Dong Chuc Dong near Hanoi with over 20,000 Chinese troops killed Peace treaty signed Venice between Republic of Venice and Duchy Milan through Cardinal Niccolò Albergati Milan required to relinquish control Brescia Vercelli to Venice regain former lands Liguria Castello Orsini-Odescalchi built Bracciano Italy by Orsini family Eunuch-dominated secret police start control palace guards imperial workshops infiltrate civil service head foreign missions China February Eleanor Navarre queen regnant Navarre d 1479 February Christian Oldenburg King Denmark Norway Sweden d 1481 July Anne Neville Countess Warwick d 1492 September Maria Cleves French noble d 1487 November Johann IV Roth Roman Catholic bishop d 1506 March May Thomas Hoccleve English poet b c 1368 c late May Kale Kye-Taung Nyo deposed King Ava b c 1385 September Hubert van Eyck painter November Elizabeth Lancaster Duchess Exeter English Plantagenet noblewoman daughter John Gaunt b c 1363 December Pippo Spano Hungarian military leader b 1369 December Thomas Beaufort Duke Exeter English nobleman military leader b c 1377 date unknown Tezozomoc Tepanec ruler Azcapotzalco military leader The Mackenzie District has three Category 1 sites and twenty-six Category 2 sites, with one historic area. Margaret Hamilton was an American entertainer and educator who had a fifty-year career in entertainment spanning theater, film, radio, and television. She is best known for her portrayal of the Wicked Witch of the West in the 1939 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film The Wizard of Oz. Wikipedia is a free online encyclopedia written by volunteers and hosted by the non-profit Wikimedia Foundation. It offers various projects, including Commons (a media repository), MediaWiki (software development), Meta-Wiki (project coordination), Wikibooks (free textbooks), Wikidata (a knowledge base), and many others. The English version of Wikipedia has over 1 million articles, while other languages have their own Wikipedias with varying numbers of articles. The website provides a unique way to navigate the encyclopedia through content portals. Wikipedia is available in many languages, including Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and many others. The site allows users to ask questions about using or editing Wikipedia at the Help Desk, or seek research answers on encyclopedic topics at the Reference Desk. The text also includes a