A person claimed that they didn't say the minister used Chrome for WhatsApp, but someone else shared information about Chrome. Another user joked that the minister might be using WhatsApp web or another browser. A new member asked how WhatsApp can be hacked unless the phone is left unattended and someone logs in via a browser. Someone made a comment about Saifuddin being responsible for hacking WhatsApp, while another person wondered who is behind it. An individual suggested that enabling two-factor authentication (2FA) would prevent such incidents. Others joked about the minister's lack of technical knowledge and their use of WhatsApp for sensitive information. A user mentioned the Chua Soi Lek case from 2008 and how it was a scandal. Someone else suggested that AI deepfake technology could be used to create fake messages or videos. A person asked why UEC recognition is still an issue after 20 years. Another user questioned whether some individuals are using WhatsApp for personal gain or to spread misinformation. Someone joked about the minister's secret leaks and how they use WhatsApp. A new member asked who will take responsibility for the hacking incident, there is no need to be thick ler because how do you know its confirm web whatsapp or not bp Like Quote Reply thats why dont hamsap go click porno link.ohwaiiiiiiii once your smartfon clicked an adult link , thats it , your smartfon is being smarted by KKPark guys and some banking apps might be compromised too depending which bank je so in order to avoid use brave browser lo Like Quote Reply my officemate pun sama when i asked him if he visited porn or pirated movie group he denied but IKYK la no way phone kena hijack if you dont do stupid stuff
