PRESENT - I study - He studies	PAST - She said that they studied - He said that they studied
PAST - I studied - He studied	PAST PERFECT - She said that they had studied - He said that they had studied
FUTURE - I will study

Simple Present (SP) "I am really busy."	Past Tense (PT) Jane said she was really busy.
Present Continuous (PRECON) "I am baking a cake."	Past Continuous (PASTCON) She said she was baking a cake.
Past Tense (PT) "I went to the store to buy some coffee."	Past Perfect Tense (PPT) She said she had gone to the store to buy some coffee."
Present Perfect Tense (PREPT) "I have learned this recipe from my mother."	Past Perfect Tense (PPT) She said she had learned that recipe from her mother.
Will "I will call you later."	Would She said she would call me later.

I'm not sure if my excuse to come across well, why we can ignore the rule, which what I understood, "to form reported speech, go one tense back from quoted speech form." I wish you would answer my question. Hello, To start with, both forms (said to me that/told me that) are correct. Quiz Test your understanding of this English lesson Test your understanding of the English lesson by answering these questions. If her original words were: "I HAVE GOT a stomach ache and I would like to be absent from school." Then, we need to shift the sentence into Reported Speech as follows: She said that HAD a stomach ache and would like to be absent from school. Quiz Test your understanding of this English lesson Test your understanding of the English lesson by answering these questions. I thought, to answer the question, "Did you know about that?" in the form of reported speech, "She asked me if I had known about it." was right. (we never shift "would"; have got/have(to)/must -> all shift to "HAD (to)") If the Reported Speech were "...she got a stomach ache..." then her original words should have been: "...I get a stomach ache..." which is incorrect (Present Simple would be understood as a repeated/habitual action) If her original words were: "I HAD a stomach ache (this morning) and I would like to ..." Then, the sentence in Reported Speech would be as follows: "She said (to me) that / She told me that she HAD HAD a stomach ache that morning and would like to..." Hope this is a bit clear now :) Cheers, David Nice to meet you from Japan, Alex. Quiz Test your understanding of this English lesson Test your understanding of the English lesson by answering these questions. However, the correct answer was, "She asked me if I knew about it." And the same way, at the last question, I thought, "Alex asked if we had enjoyed this video," was the way it would be. Though either way, I'm looking forward to your following lessons!! Quiz Test your understanding of this English lesson Test your understanding of the English lesson by answering these questions. You will get the answers and your score at the end of the quiz. Check out e.g. this page : However, I see a mistake in both of your sentences. I'm new here, just signed up for your lesson. I got 8 of 10 on this test, which makes me happy! Thank you for your video! I don't understand the tense of "Yes/No Questions" with reported speech form.
