The Metro Exodus Bulldog Rifle has been revealed. The new gun is expected to be a "rare find" for players of the upcoming first-person shooter by Deep Silver and 4A Games. Fans of post-apocalyptic games have been looking forward to Metro Exodus for some time now. It's set to come out in February of next year and the developers have been working hard to make that timeline. Aside from their development efforts, the team behind the latest dive into the deadly tunnels of the Moscow Metro have taken the time to occasionally reveal new bits of content. Today's reveal is the Metro Exodus Bulldog Rifle, a gun that will be a bit rarer than most. Its complex mechanics require skillful maintenance. Take a look at the latest weapon added to our arsenal in Metro Exodus, we call it "Bulldog" pic.twitter.com/0IJ21VLPX— Deep Silver UK (@DeepSilverUK) November 27, 2018

The Metro Exodus Bulldog Rifle is superior to the standard Kalash (the game's equivalent of an AK-47) in many respects. It boasts superior damage output, handling, and accuracy with a lower overall weight as compared to its more popular cousin. It's not a straight upgrade, though - the Bulldog Rifle suffers from a lower fire rate. It appears that the Metro Exodus Bulldog Rifle will likely be similar in rarity to the VSV in Metro 2033 and Metro: Last Light. The VSV was a particularly difficult find in the first game as only a single enemy carried it. It's less difficult to acquire in the sequel Metro: Last Light, but it is nonetheless not as readily available as other automatic rifles in the game. In terms of the game's story, the Metro Exodus Bulldog Rifle is often eschewed by denizens of the world thanks to a need for more careful maintenance. After all, the AK series of guns (or rather, the Kalash) are well-known for their ability to work under any conditions. If you're curious about the newest addition to the arsenal for Metro Exodus, you can head on over to the gun's page on the game's official website and check out the 3D model for yourself. However, each weapon can be set up with hundreds of different attachment combinations and upgrades. This means that there are dozens of viable setups for each gun in-game. When attempting to rank the best weapons in the game, there are a few things to keep in mind. Stealth plays a huge role in Exodus, as killing hostiles will often result in a moral penalty. Recoil, damage, range, and stability are other factors that impact the effectiveness of a gun. This list will take into account those factors and present the most impressive builds in Metro Exodus for the game's next-gen release. 10 Fully Auto Stallion As a semi-automatic weapon, the Stallion is a middle-of-the-road weapon. It only deals 5 damage per bullet and has a base magazine of 7. However, with a fully auto Barrel, it becomes one of the better close-range weapons in the game. The small magazine can be an issue, but it is still a top build in Exodus. Players will want to equip the following attachments. Stock: Balanced Grip Barrel: Long Barrel With Full Auto Magazine: High Capacity Magazine Sight: Reflex Sight Gadget: Green Laser 9 Long Range Valve The Valve is the only true sniper in the game. With a 6x scope, it is the most dominant ranged weapon available. For those that like to pick off enemies from miles away, this weapon will do the job. Stock: Heavy Stock Barrel: Heavy Barrel Magazine: Single Column Magazine Sight: Scope 6x Gadget: Infrared Laser This build is exclusively for extended ranges. The Valve will not be effective inside of 20 meters because of how slow it will be considering the movement penalties and base fire rate. 8 The Mutant Killer Named Sammy Sammy is one of the adaptations of the traditional Kalash, with the same damage profile, but less accuracy. Because of its attachments, the Sammy can be used in a variety of ways. One of which is a Mutant-focused incendiary weapon. The gun has a mechanism slot, which means it can be used to fire incendiary bullets full auto. Mutants will dread the setup listed below. Stock: Standard Stock And Grip Barrel: Standard Barrel And Compensator Magazine: 45-round Magazine Sight: Reflex Sight Gadget: Green Laser 7 Uboinik Shambler The re-named shotgun is the best point plank weapon at players' disposal in Exodus. It inflicts a total of 13 damage per shot and has a decent fire rate. Gamers will want to equip the Duckbill Choke to disperse the pellet spread and cause as much damage as possible. Shamblers are the easiest weapons to use in the game because of how forgiving they are up close. Stock: Light Grip Barrel: Standard Barrel And Duckbill Choke Magazine: 10-round Magazine Sight: Closed Reflex Sight Gadget: Green Laser 6 The Tried And True Kalash The fast-firing, modest damage assault rifle can be used in a variety of ways. Due to its fire rate and middle of the pack stability, it performs the best when used at medium ranges. As a hybrid between an assault rifle and SMG, the weapon's fire rate and consistency are solid. Stock: Standard Stock And Grip Barrel: Standard Barrel And Compensator Magazine: 45-round Magazine Sight: Reflex Sight Gadget: Green Laser 5 Kalash RPK By equipping the 75 round drum on the Kalash, the weapon essentially mirrors the RPK. It has modest damage and recoil with a large ammo capacity. As a mid-game intermediate gun, the RPK is a solid option. It may not have the damage of the Bulldog, but 75 rounds is hard to beat. Stock: Heavy Stock And Grip Barrel: Long Barrel And Compensator Magazine: 75-round Magazine Sight: Scope 6x Gadget: Infrared Laser 4 Six Shooter Revolver Base Revolvers in Exodus are good weapons but do not have the fire rate to handle multiple enemies later in the game. With the 6 or 8 shot Double Action Cylinder, the Revolver will fire considerably faster. The Double Action Cylinders remove the need to cock the gun before firing subsequent shots. Therefore, the Revolver can be fired almost as fast as a full auto, and it has enough damage to melt through any foe. Stock: Balanced Stock Mechanism: Automatic System Magazine: High Capacity Magazine Sight: Reflex Sight Gadget: Green Laser 3 Van Helsing For stealth purposes, there is no better build in the game. The Helsing is silent on its own and can be modified to deal 10 damage with each bolt. It will one-shot lower-level mutants and human enemies. Players will want to focus on range and stability when building the class. Low magazine capacity and a slow reload make using the bow up close a liability. Stock: Heavy Stock Mechanism: Pneumatic Bow System Magazine: 6-bolt Magazine Sight: Scope 4x/NV Scope Gadget: Infrared Laser 2 Balanced Bulldog The Bulldog is basically a modified version of the Kalash. It has a slower fire rate, but more damage than the original gun. In fact, the only advantages the Kalash has are a larger magazine and a slightly higher fire rate. From intermediate to long-range, the Bulldog is one of the best weapons to use in the game. The only issue with the gun is tracking down the rare modifications. Stock: Semi-grip Barrel: Long Barrel Magazine: 60 Round Magazine Sight: Reflex Sight/6x Gadget: Infrared Laser 1 Tikhar Railgun Famous for being the only weapon to fire ball bearings, the Tikhar is a completely silent rifle that is extraordinarily accurate. It may not have very high damage, but it has barely any recoil and is completely silent. The ultimate Tikhar build is a Railgun conversion. It may only be available in the final mission, but it is the most powerful weapon in Exodus, dealing 20 damage per bullet. The Railgun only takes one shot to kill nearly every creature in the game.
